WHAT IS A GENTLEMAN ?

What is a gentleman ? Is it a thing
Decked with a scarf pin, a chain, and a ring,
Dressed in a suit of immaculate style,
Sporting an eye-glass, a lisp, and a smile ?
Talking of operas concerts and balls,
Evening assemblies and afternoon calls,
Sunning himself at "At Homes" and bazars
Whistling mazurkas, and smoking cigars?

What is a gentleman ? Say, is it one
Boasting of conquests and deeds he has done?
One who unblushingly glories to speak
Things which should call up a flush to his cheek ?
One, who, whilst calling at actions unjust,
Robs some young heart of its pureness and trust;
Scorns to steal money, or jewels, or wealth.
Thinks it no crime to take honor by stealth?

What is a gentleman ? Is it not one
Knowing instinctively what he should shun,
Speaking no word that can injure or pain,
Spreading no scandal and deep'ning no stain ?
One who knows how to put each at his ease,
Striving instinctively always to please;
One who can tell by a glance at your cheek,
When to be silent, and when he should speak?

What is a gentleman ? Is it not one
Honestly eating the bread he has won,
Living in uprightness, fearing his God,
Leaving no stain on the path he has trod,
Caring not whether his coat may be old,
Prizing sincerity far above gold,
Recking not whether his hand may be hard,
Stretching it holding to grasp its reward ?

What is a gentleman ? Say, is it birth
Makes a man noble, or adds to his worth?
Is there a family tree to be had
Spreading enough to conceal what is bad ?
Seek out the man who has God for his Guide
Nothing to blush for and nothing to hide;
Be he a noble, or be he in trade,
This is the gentleman Nature has made.

THE CURIOUS SCRIBE.

CHAPTER I.

I will not bore you with a long story. I never told a long story. No one can say that Eli Buck has ever told stretched-out anecdotes to a gaping company. Modest ? Well, I'm not exactly bashful, but I haven't that self-push to which many a man owes his prominence. I was educated for a lawyer. In fact, I practiced the devilish profession for a short time. I say devilish because, during my short, and as Brete Harte would say, unhallowed career as a lawyer, I was fined for contempt of court and was mercilessly thumped by a witness who insisted that my pointless questions had led him unwittingly into falsehood. I shall not, however, discuss my career as a lawyer. It is of myself as an editor that I desire to speak. From the time when my recollection seemed to come out of a dark closet and flit, like a miller, around the candle of newly awakened existence, I have had a great fondness for newspapers. My father often said that this predilection for hurried print would send me to the poor-house, but I found consolation in the reflection that considerable ingenuity would find long employment in arranging a poorer house than that which my father owned.

Well, at last I secured a printing office. It was bought at a Sheriff's sale. At different times, many papers of different names, had been issued from the worn hand-press, but waving aside the entire list of back-numbered christenings, I preferred to call my sheet the Arkansaw Cat Fish. This was surely an odd name—a kind of "odds-fish" name—and it was not, as an ignorant and heartless wag, who never paid his subscription, remarked, intended for exclusive circulation among the colored people.

One day while I was hard at work, an old man, very tall, with white hair and shrunken cheeks, came into the office.

"I am very anxious to secure work," said he. "I am the oldest compositor in the State. I have worn myself out on daily papers, and now I wish to work on a weekly, where, instead of suffering under gaslight, I can spend my nights in quiet. I ask for but little remuneration—a boarding place and a decent burial. Withers is my name."

I looked at him to determine if his mind were right, but in his calm eye there was no traces of insanity.

"My dear sir," said I, "do you expect to die so soon ?"

"I have consumption," he replied, "and my course is nearly run ; but I am prepared. I regret no past ; fear no future."

"It is true that I need some one, for with my short experience I am a very slow compositor, and it is true that I am not able to pay an active printer."

"I can set up your paper with but little trouble. Say the word and I will take off my coat."

CHAPTER II.

The old man was an excellent compositor, wonderfully correct and untiring in his effort to please. All day he would sit on a high stool, putting up type with a regular click. His grim expression that crossed his face when he bent himself over the case and coughed with a hollow sound. He kept a bottle of cod liver oil setting on the press, and three times a day he would take up the bottle and drink with as much zest, it appeared to me, as though he were imbibing choice wine.

He slept in the office. One night while we were sitting by the stove, he looked up suddenly and asked :

"What is your religion ?"

"I do not belong to any church."

"Which church do you favor ?"

"I favor them all, for they all point to a place of final rest."

"And a final hell," said he.

"Yes, the most of them believe in a hell, though not so strongly, I fancy, as they did before education became so general."

"Not so much as they did," he assented. "Many of them do not now believe that hell is necessary to salvation, but there must be a difference in the treatment of good and bad souls. Suppose a man who never harmed any one, should kill himself ? Do you think his soul would find rest ?"

"That's a question upon which I would not like to express an opinion."

"It is a question though," he continued, "which concerns me very much. My suffering daily increases, but I don't see that I am approaching the grave with that degree of acceleration which promises an early relief from pain. I have often thought that in my case, a man would be justifiable in taking his own life. It looks to me as though I am restlessly tortured."

I hardly knew what reply to make, for I felt that the old man had cause to complain, but after a few moments of reflection, I said :

"Wait. No matter how much you may be racked by pain, wait. You surely cannot live much longer."

A light of encouragement shone in his eyes as he said :

"Ah, those are pleasant words."

After this I fancied that he was not so restless. He continued to talk medicine, to allay pain rather than to prolong life, he said. He wrote several strangely readable articles for the Cat Fish. I didn't know, that with all my experience in handling manuscripts, I have even seen a handwriting so peculiar as his. A number of our citizens who saw it remarked its dissimilarity to any chirography they had ever beheld, and among them the old man was known as the curious scribe.

One evening as I was about to leave the office, he followed me to the door. "Mr. Buck," said he, "I think now that my time is short."

He looked as though he wanted to smile, but that his poor old lips had lost the movement necessary to the reflection of so pleasing an expression.

"Why do you think so, Mr. Withers ?"

"I dreamed last night that I was dead. I thought that I lay down in quiet rest, like a tired man who goes to bed."

"I don't think that you should sleep here alone."

"Yes," he replied. "The presence of anyone would disturb my meditations. I have an impression that I will die suddenly. An attendant would do no good, and would rob the first few hours of my long coveted sleep of that deep solitude which I desire shall surround me."

As I was walking down the road toward the house where I boarded on long time and short rations, I met 'Squire Duval.

"Well, Buck," when I had stopped and shaken hands with him, "how is the curious scribe getting along ?"

"Almost cheerful in the thought that he is soon to leave us," I replied.

"Strange old man, mighty queer, but don't think that his mind's altogether out o' whack. Him an' me agrees putty well here o' late, fur I've mighty nigh made a spiritualist outen him. 'Tuther day when he 'peered to be so dead set on suicide, I said to him, says I, 'Withers, don't do it. If you do, your grade will be low. Live on, even if you do suffer, an' your grade will be high.' "

The next morning, as I was going to the office, I overtook the Squire near the place where I had met him the day before. B'leve I'll go with you," said he, "an' have a few moments' chat with the old fell."

There was no lock on the office door, and lifting the latch, we entered. Great God ! The old man's body lay on the floor. His head, with the face turned toward us, lay on the imposing stone. A bloody—an awful scene ! On the stone, near the head, lay a sheet of paper covered with the old man's peculiar writing. Almost breathlessly, I read these words :

"You will be surprised to find my head up here and my body on the floor. You do not see how it is possible for a man to cut off his head and place it where he chooses and then throw his body on the floor. It is singular, but you see for yourself. How would you go about such a performance ? Ten to one you would fail.

CHAPTER III.

Never before or since have I seen such excitement in a town. It was useless to deny that the note had been written by the curious scribe, but the old man could not have entirely severed his own head from his body, and, even could he have done so, he could not have placed it on the stone. Why any one should have murdered him no one could concieve. Expert detectives came and spent days in looking for a clue, but went away puzzled. 'Squire Duval declared that the old man had been aided by bad spirit, in the execution of the bloody design, yet this, while it may have found ready supporters among people who believed in supernatural agencies, was ridiculed by the Coroner and laughed at by the jury.

Some time previous to the arrival of the old man, I had incurred the mortal enmity of a fellow named Givens. This soulless wretch, biding his time, swore out a warrant for my arrest, charging me with the murder of the curious scribe. Of course I was indignant, but I soon saw that the people paid but little attention to my protest of innocence. I was arraigned for examination before a Justice of the Peace. I had 'Squire Duval and the man with whom I boarded, introduced as witnesses. The 'Squire's testimony amounted to nothing, but the testimony of my landlord made my blood run cold.

"Mr. Buck went to bed at the usual hour," said he, "but about midnight he got up and went out. When he came back, which he did after some time, I heard him washing his hands, and at morning when I went to the wash shelf on the porch I saw blood stains in the bottom of the bowl.

The truth is, unable to sleep I had gotten up. I went out, lighted my pipe and walked around, smoking. As I was returning to the house, I came in contact with the end of a rail which projected over the fence, forcing a few drops of blood from my nose.

When I made the statement, the people looked suspiciously at me. My lawyer made an able speech, dwelling on the fact that I had nothing against him ; and although I had known him to be something of a materialist, yet supported the 'Squire's opinion insomuch that as the old man had unquestionably written the note, he might have cut off his own head.

The magistrate decided that the evidence was sufficiently strong to justify my detention, and, as the case was not bailable I was taken to jail. I had great hopes that the grand jury would fail to return an indictment, but I was disappointed. When it became known that the charge against me was sustained by the gentlemen in secret session, a mob assembled and it was with great difficulty that the sheriff could keep me from the clutches of the yelling avengers.

One morning, just before the meeting of the court before which I was to be tried, the sheriff entered the jail and said :

"Mr. Buck, you are free. Read this letter. It was written by a crazy man, well known in this community, and was addressed to the circuit judge."

The surprise was so gladdening—the thought of regaining my liberty and once more taking my place among respected men, filled me with such a desire to throw up my hat that it was with difficulty that I could repress my exultation long enough to read the letter. The document which effected my liberation ran as follows :

"Judge, while no one is bothering me, and while I sit alone in my room, number 102 left wing, I will drop you a few lines. We used to go to school together didn't we, judge ? Well, some time ago—I don't know how long for sometimes it seems ten years and then ten minutes—I slipped away from the asylum. They had given me the privilege of walking out. I got on a train, and went up to your town. It was night and nobody saw me. After I had walked around awhile, I got down on my knees and lapped water out of a puddle. Yes, I did. I saw a light in a house and I went in. An old man with white hair was in the house. It tickled me to look at him. While we were talking, a funny idea occurred to me : 'Suppose the people were to come here in the morning and find that old man's head on the rock table, what would they say ? It would puzzle 'em if he was to leave a note saying that he had cut off his head and put it there. I could put his head there and write the note, but the people might know his handwriting and detect the forgery. I won't commit forgery. It is wrong. They send the folks to the penitentiary for forgery. I'll get him to write the note.' That is the way the funny idea ran through my head. I began to talk pleasantly to him, told him that I owned a farm a short distance from town. Well, I do, judge. I won't tell a lie unless it is to help along a great cause. Will you do me a great favor ?' I asked. He said that he would. 'I want to play a joke on my little girl,' said I. 'She can read and write, but I can't. The other day she whipped her doll. I told her that she ought not to be so cruel, that if she didn't mind the doll would commit suicide. Now, I tell you what I am going to do. I am going to cut off the doll's head and put it on a stool and leave a note, explaining the funny situation. While she is weeping over the death of her doll I will take out a nicer one which I shall have handy, and make her glad. Won't you please write down the words I dictate ?' He laughed at the idea, said it was the first time he had laughed for years. I told him that I was glad to afford him any amusement, and that I would be grateful if he would write the words for me. He did so and I went out. I slipped into a store, through a window and got a new butcher knife. Then I went back and found the old man reading. We talked a while and then, when he wasn't noticing me, I grabbed him by the throat and forced him to the floor. He was too weak to struggle much and I had very little trouble in cutting his throat, but cutting off his head was not such an easy job. I go it off after a while, and had to laugh when I put it on the rock table, and when I put the note beside it. It tickled me so much that I had to blow out the light. I shut the door carefully and went away. I jumped on a frieght train and rode where no body could see me. When I got off, I threw nearly all of my clothes in the river. By morning I was at the asylum. They had been looking for me. Since then they won't let me go out. I showed this letter to the superintendent and expected him to laugh, but he didn't. He can't see a joke. I asked him to hand it back, that I wanted to write a few more lines. He did so. If you see the old man's head, it will tickle you."

* * * * * * *

The people who would have been willing to hang me, offered to generously support my paper if I would remain, but the town was distasteful to me. I am now engaged in farming, and am reasonbly contented, but I shudder every time I see an old man with white hair.—Arkansas Traveler.

El Mahdi and the Menageries.

'The row in the Soudan is going to play havoc with the wild animal trade this year,' said Superintendent Brown, at the Zoological Garden. As long as there is a war there, of course no animals can be exported from that portion of Africa. Lions are very high now, although the lion market is dull. A good pair of African lions are worth $2,000 or more. Most of the hippopotami come from Nubia and the northwestern part of Africa. If all the hippopotami in this country were to take a notion to die, we couldn't get any more for a long time.'

'Are they apt to die in captivity ?'

'Yes ; moving about isn't good for them. Some animals seem to thrive better when they are with menageries, going from one part of the country to another, but a hippopotamus ought to stay in one place. Last year there were thirteen of these animals in the United States; now there are only eight. Giraffes come from Soudan, and they are very scarce and very high—pecuniarily as well as in stature. I think there are four Giraffes in this country now. We have one, and there is nothing the matter with him except his hoofs ; they are too long. We try to clip them, but he don't like it, and he is liable to kick a man fifteen feet or so. Giraffes are great butters, too. They can strike a blow with their heads that would astonish Sullivan. Two baby giraffes, only seven feet high, sold recently for $2,000. It's almost impossible to put a price on these animals now, they are so scarce.'

The Name Did It.

Margaretta Steigerwaldenzer and Georgiana Warner, who live in Pike county, went out for a walk. While passing along the road they saw a rattlesnake lying in the roadway. One of the girls threw a stone at it, and it immediately coiled itself and showed fight. Miss Steigerwaldenzer picked up a club and accepted the challenge.

'Oh, Magaretta Steigerwaldenzer !' cried Miss Warner. 'Don't go near it. It will kill you !'

At that the snake uncoiled itself and hurried away. Miss Steigerwaldenzer followed it, and, overtaking it, killed it, the snake showed no further inclination to defend itself. It was three feet long and had only four rattles.

'How quickly that snake lost its fierceness,' said Miss Steigerwaldenzer to Miss Warner.

'Yes,' replied Miss Warner. 'It heard me speak your name and knew then that there was no use.'

The two girls are still friends.

HOW TO KEEP YOUNG.

HOW THE MIND CAN KEEP THE BODY FROM GROWING OLD

The Rust That Wears Both Body and Soul—How Thought Can Build New Physical Structures—The Wise Man of the Future.

[Special Correspondence to the PATRIOT.]

BOSTON, April 30.—Healthy body, healthy mind. Old adage, convertible terms—healthy mind, healthy mind. More yet, keep the mind young and fresh and you keep the body ditto. Worried minds, racked minds, fretted minds, sour, cross, ugly, surly, peevish, sad, melancholic minds wear a young body into an old one ten, twenty, thirty years ere its time.

Two-thirds of our old age, so-called, comes of rust, dead rust, treadmill lives, diving in ruts, learning nothing new, declaring we're too old to learn.

Young man marries at twenty-three. Young woman ditto. "Settle down." Give up recreation, boats, balls, dancing, croquet, etc. Turn five-sixths of their lives into business and housekeeping.

Result at thirty-five : Young man's rut is worn too deep for him to crawl out of. Think's he's seen about all there is in life to live for. He settled down into eating, sleeping and puttering from store to house and house to store. Begins to "lay up" for old age. Sees himself in thought an old man. Result, he does grow old, acts old, thinks old, not knowing that thoughts are live things built out of highly rarefied matter, that mind is at work and in existence in every atom of our bodies, and that the mind full of fresh, hopeful, happy thought, and of plan, purpose and project, marks and keeps the freshest, strongest and most vigorous body.

Ericsson as alive with work and invention as ever at eighty-four ; Gladstone in his seventies running England ; De Lesseps canaling and over seventy ; Victor Hugo hale and hearty at eighty or thereabouts ; Peter Cooper unflagging in mental vigor up to his last moment, when over ninety ; Beecher more powerful than ever and has long passed his three score—do not these point to greater future knowledge on this subject.

No need of a man or woman giving up and settling into old age and old ways and becoming "old folks" if the wear and tear of life has carved a few lines on their faces or whitened a few hairs. It's the giving up business that starts them on the down grade fast, stoops the shoulders, weakens the knees and ages the face. What a man or woman think of themselves inside that they soon become and show outside.

Some day not far hence a reputed very wise man will come to the front and show to the world what some already know, to wit : That thought is a substance, with possibilities concerning not mere longevity, but the full retention, if not increase of snap, vigor, vitality in brain and body up to date.

Is everything learned about everything yet ? If one fourth the attention was paid to the study of making stronger bodies and clearer brains that is now given to making money, wouldn't new truths and "big points" soon crop out somewhere ? Is the human race at the end of its tether in the getting of knowledge ?

Make up your mind to keep fresh. To "make up" your mind will from time to time, and all the time, keep bringing you new ways and means for keeping fresh. Don't live over much in recollection of old times, old associations. That's living in your back brain. That's looking back all the time. Bad practice. Mrs. Lot looked back. Salt. Keep fresh. Look forward. Just as good times in the future as in the past. Better. Sun's as bright to-day as forty years ago. Read Paul, "Forget the things that are behind, and press forward to those that are before." Looking always back is old thought. O. T. makes you old.

Eat, live, fresh food. Fresh eggs, fresh vegetables, fresh food. Get life in it. Transfers such life to you. No economy in your provision because its cheap. Puts lead in you instead of life. Poisons your blood instead of enriching. Makes your brain dull. Injures your purse. Bounce salted foods. Can't cheat your stomach that way. Fills up. Mainly with dyspepsia or some form of scurvy.

Live in the present and in all that's going on that you can take in, and also enough in the future to see what's coming. Don't cut off your lives with young people. Don't think you must keep the company of old patterers [who have stopped growing and are dead but don't know it] just because they were born the same year with you. What's experience and wisdom good for if out of it you can't make yourself good company for a man or woman half or even one third your age ?

Wash off your dead skin often. Dead skin is part of your own corpse clinging to you. Body's done its part in throwing off dead matter through the pores. Calls on you to do the rest. Wash it off. Clogged pores, no draft for life's furnace. Life's fire there smoulders. Hence you feel dull, sluggish, old. Skin breathes as well as lungs—or would if it could. One half the world's skins but half work. Result loss of snap.

Don't keep old things around. Live in the new as much as you can. New houses, new clothes and among the kind people that are newer every time you see them. Don't keep old clothes after you've worn all the life out of them. They're full of your old emanations. Full, in fact, of your deadness. Fact for future philosopher to build brilliant reputation on. Fact to-day, nevertheless. New clothes bring their own new life.

Can't afford 'em ? Makes no difference as to result if you can't. Even snakes have more sense than to crawl back into their old dead skins. But serpents are wise, if they can't wear high-heeled shoes. No snake will wear his coat over a year. Some men wear theirs a dozen—for economy's sake.

Don't hurry about anything. Haste makes more waste of life's force than most of us dream of. Half our brain-softening, paralysis, general debility comes of trying to do from one to four things at once. Trying to make the body do one thing while half or more of the mind is on another. Mind means force. Mind, thought and strength means the same thing. If a poet cuts down a tree the strength he puts in the ax might have written a poem. But he can't write the poem and cut the tree down together. One thing at a time. Don't hurry for anything or anybody. Let the boat go to thunder, the world to smash and the cars to the—off the track before you run for any of 'em. Better be left a dozen times than train yourself to be always in a hurry. One-third, at least, of our grown-up children are trained to the habit of hurry. Hopeless cases. Can't get out of it. Too late. Thinking of what's next to be done while trying to do what should now be done from morning till night. Pulling on pantaloons and thinking business, eating breakfast and thinking business, walking and hurrying to business. Awful waste of force there ate for, slept for and paid for. Think an orator could make a speech and turn a grindstone at the same time? Steam turned on two machines when there's hardly power for one. Result : poor speech, poorly turned grindstone, debilitated orator and old age at fifty.

Don't knuckle to the old fogy, male, female, who tells you that because things have been so and so in the past, so must they ever be just so in all future. Nonsence. Same sort said same thing to Columbus, to Fulton, to Morse, to everybody who had a new idea. Bounce anybody who says "it can't be." Impossiblity of to-day turns out possibility of to-morrow. People to-day average longer lives and fresher lives at sixty than they did forty years ago. Cause, more sense. Better care of bodies. Hundred years hence, if not sooner, some will be in their prime at eighty. Nothing wonderful. Just lies in knowing how to make new bone, new flesh, new nerve and new mind.

Get up and keep up as many new interests as you can. Learn to do new things with your hands as well as your head. Every new interest is a new grip on life. New occupations bring new thought. New thought is new life. "News" keeps half the people now from stagnating. Commence a new trade, a new start, a new study at fifty or sixty. Yes, if you have time and taste for it. It's a tonic. Many a rich invalid would get well if he'd apprentice himself to a blacksmith or a carpenter for two hours a day.

Half the old boys and girls are ashamed to begin learning anything new; ashamed to show awkwardness of beginner to younger people; want to keep up bogus dignity. Humbug. All outside; nothing pretentious; know-next-to-nothings.

Say you: "But I'm too hard pressed to make a living for self and family to commence any new ways at my time of life." Sorry for you. Result the same. Nature says, "Go this way." Nature says, "Go that." Nature says, "Rest and recuperate." Business, necessity, circumstance says, "Work and grow weaker." Well?

PRENTICE MILFORD.

A Galveston female school teacher was on very intimate terms with the male teacher in the same school. He was in the habit of strolling into her room during the recess, and chatting with the object of his affections. His name was Smith.

One day the lady teacher endeavored to make the class comprehend the omnipresence of God. She explained to them that God was everywhere.

'Now, my dear children, suppose you all go out of this room, except myself, and I stay in here. Am I alone ?' asked the female teacher.

'No,' exclaimed one of the little girls, 'Mr. Smith will be with you.'

PHILADELPHIA will soon do away with telegraph poles and have the wires laid under ground.

GENERAL LOGAN, after a three months' contest for the United States Senatorship in Illinois, was re-elected to that office on Tuesday.

THE Plymouth epidemic is abating. There are nearly 100 less cases than appeared by the canvass two weeks ago. Many old cases are convalescing and no new ones have appeared.

RIEL, the rebel leader in the Dominion of Canada, has been captured. His soldiers are all scattered. Many of them are giving up their arms and the Canadian rebellion is entirely ended.

THE president appointed Charles B. Staples to be collector of internal revenue for the twelfth district of Pennsylvania (Wilkesbarre) vice Edward H. Chase.

THE new postal card under the new contract will be a delicate pink in color instead of the present yellow. The size will be the same but the texture of the card is to be improved.

SIXTEEN years ago the murder of Mary Monrman, a little girl of 6 years of age, occurred in Philadelphia, and John Hanlon, a barber living near her mother's house, was convicted of the murder and hanged. On last Monday the Boston Herald printed the confession of the man who really committed the murder and which gives the sad intelligence that a man has been hanged innocently.

THE date of adjournment of our legislature has now been fixed for the 12th of June. Anti discrimination bills, revenue bills, apportionment and appropriation bills will have to be pressed through in the remaining few weeks and nobody can expect a careful consideration of these measures in such short time. The tardiness of the legislative body in their work is the subject of universal dissatisfaction.

Boss Chris Magee has found that James A. McDewitt, of Lancaster, is not the man to win the fight against Colonel Quay, for state treasurer. He has discovered that State Senator Lewis Emery, jr., the millionaire oil prince from McKean county, will do better, and that gentleman will enter the field with the determination and confidence of winning the victory. Those who know say that Emery's popularity, ambition and means, will make it lively for Quay and the chances of success about even.

Signs of Returning Prosperity.

POTTSTOWN, May 18.—The rolling mill of the Potts Brothers Iron Company, limited, of this place, which has been lying idle since last fall, started up in all its departments this morning on single turn, giving employment to a large number of men. The firm has received sufficient orders to keep them going for some time. The iron industries are picking up considerably in this section of the state.

A Mistake.

Many mistakes are made for want of thinking before forming a conclusion. A great many people will take a city weekly instead of their home paper because the former happens to be a trifle cheaper. They never stop to think that they are supporting an industry outside of their own community, while they are neglecting a similar industry of which all ought to be proud—the home newspaper. They may read a city weekly for a month and not find even their own county mentioned. The home paper comes every week freighted with news, notices, markets, &c., in which they are interested. It is a means of disseminating items of local importance, it exposes those who are dishonest, it upholds honesty and morality, prompts and promotes their own enterprises. It is the best paper for the family published, because the tone is moral and it contains nothing that contaminates the young reader, but stimulates him to the habit of reading, while very few issues of city weeklies, taking the opinion of ministers to be correct, are suited for the family: Take your home paper, pay for it, and influence your friends in its behalf, and you are supporting an industry that is working hand-in-hand with the church and common schools in the struggle of intelligence and christianity against ignorance and crime.—Ex.

CLOTHING SPECIAL.

H. R. Whitcomb, Clothier, Lock Haven, can at the present time give you some remarkable bargains in clothing, having bought a large amount of Clothing from the firm of Knowles, Leland & Co., Boston, Mass., manufacturers of fine clothing, who are retiring from business.

These goods have been bought at prices so that we can retail them for much less than they cost to manufacture.

You may never have an opportunity to purchase good clothing as cheap as you can from us at present, as we must realize on these goods. WHITCOMB, Sign of the Red Flag. Lock Haven.

Miscellaneous News.

Storms in the West.

Emigrants Overwhelmed by a Waterspout—A Death-Dealing Cyclone.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 18.—An Omaha special says a waterspout descended upon a ravine near Kearney, Neb., Friday night, washing a family of emigrants, named Scott from their wagon, and drowning two children.

The Journal's Kirwin, Kan., special says: A cyclone passed through Rook county on the 15th, about 4. p. m., starting near the line between Osborne and Rook counties, at the southeast corner of Medicine township, and followed a westerly course, dealing death and destruction throughout the pathway of its entire course. Nearly fifty persons were injured. Among the fatally injured are Rev. Grimes, wife and child, killed; a child, name unknown, fatally injured; George Campbell, missing, supposed to have been killed; A. J. Johnson, brother of H. M. Johnson, banker, of this city, badly injured by falling timbers in a stable where he had taken refuge.

The loss at Bull City and Stockton consists of chimneys blown down and window glass broken by hail. Some hailstones measured four inches in diameter. At this point but little damage was done. The damage in Rook county will probably reach $50,000.

—MANY children suffer from day to day; puny, pallid, fretful and feverish, variable appetite and restless sleep, finally die, and their parents never suspecting the real cause, that the little sufferers' stomachs are infested and eaten through with worms. Twenty-five cents invested in a box of McDonald's Celebrated Worm Powders would save the doctor's bills and the patient's life. Entirely vegetable. Easy and pleasant to take. Money refunded to dissatisfied purchasers.

Locusts in Illinois.

The Seventeen-year Ravengers, Predicted by Professor Reilly, Appear.

CHICAGO, May 18.—The seventeen-year locusts, which Professor Reilly predicted, seem to have made their first appearance here. They have been found in large numbers close to the surface of the ground, and are moving upwards. The indications are strong that an unusually large swarm will appear in a short time. Very extensive apple orchards were planted by capitalists this spring, and a large eruption of locusts will almost certainly kill them.

Prof. Reilly's prediction was to the effect that the country would soon be visited by two great broods of locusts, of the seventeen and thirteen year varieties, and that this is the first time in 221 years that they have appeared in conjunction. They will not prove greatly destructive, and the injury they will inflict will probably be confined to fruit trees. The visitation, he said, would be prolonged until late in July.

CULTIVATION AND REFINEMENT.—Hon. B. S. Hewett, ex-Speaker House Representatives, writes: 'J. A. McDonald.

Dear Sir:—I have been buying my Flavoring Extracts for years from a Pittsburg manufacturer. Recently we tried a bottle of yours and found it very good indeed. Enclosed find five dollars. Send me its value in your Vanila Extract.'

Moral—always ask for McDonald's Flavoring Extracts.

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE for June comes to us, a paragon of beauty, ahead of all others. The principal steel-engraving alone is almost worth the subscription price. "No other magazine," as we often hear said, "has such steel-engravings." A charming story by Frank Lee Benedict, illustrates this pretty picture. The colored steel-fashion plate is also unusually brilliant, even for "Peterson." Most of the other illustrations—some fifty in number—are devoted to the fashions, to patterns in embroidery, etc. The "Story of Louisiana Pine-Lands"—one of rare merit—is finished in this number. But all the stories and novelets in "Peterson," as is well known, are exceptionally good. Considering the low price of this magazine, and its very great merit, we wonder it has not an even larger circulation; every family ought to take it. The terms are but two dollars a year, with great deductions to clubs, and costly premiums to those getting up clubs. Now is an especially good time to subscribe; for a new volume begins with the July number, when those who do not wish back numbers can commence. Specimens are sent gratis, if written for, to persons wishing to get up clubs. Address Charles J. Peterson, 306 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

A Justice Who Stole Chickens.

EASTON, May 16.—Joshua Gray, Justice of the Peace of the Fourth ward, Philipsburg, was arrested this morning for stealing a lot of choice breed chickens from Hyde Kugler. All the combs, wings and tails were clipped to prevent identification. Kugler heard that Gray had robbed his hennery, procured a search warrant, captured the chickens and arrested the thief.

—By land or at sea, out on the prairie, or in the crowded city, Ayer's Cathartic Pills are the best for purgative purposes, everywhere alike convenient efficacious, and safe. For sluggish bowels, torpid liver, indigestion, bad breath, flatulency, and sick headache, they are a sure remedy.

Corrected.

Miss Anna Johnson, of 24 Front street, Columbus, Ohio, says: "I suffered from an aggravated form of constipation and indigestion for several months. My family physician tried all kinds of medicines and pills, but to no effect. I began to think my case was a hopeless one. A friend of mine (Mrs. Elvira Redmond, of East Long street, this city), called, and seeing the condition I was in, recommended me to try your MANALIN. I must say I had but little faith in the medicine, but after I had taken a few doses I was convinced that MANALIN was the medicine for me. After I had taken one bottle I was entirely well of my complaint. I consider it one of the best remedies for constipation I have ever used. I have several friends who are using it. They think it an excellent remedy. I recommend it to all who are afflicted with constipation or indigestion. Any one doubting this statement is invited to call on me at 24 Front street."

Mr. Milton Knotts, Urbana, O., writes: "Last November one year ago I was taken sick, and called in our family physician. He examined me and said I had symptoms of typhoid fever. He gave me medicine for two weeks or more without any relief. I began to think that my days on earth were fast closing in. I saw at once that his medicine would not reach my disease. Just as I was about to conclude that I would have to die, my daughter brought me one of your pamphlets. I noticed a case whose symptoms were like mine, and PERUNA and MANALIN had cured him. I concluded at once to try it. I procured one bottle of PERUNA and one of MANALIN, and took them as directed, and before I had used the two bottles I began to receive strength and gain in flesh. I finished the rest of the two bottles and continued its use until the third bottle was used. When they were used I could eat anything I wanted to and go about my work. I consider that if it hadn't been for your PERUNA I would have been in my grave. Parties wishing information can write me at the above place. I recommend your medicine wherever I go."

Mr. John R. Davis, Moundsville, W. Va., writes: "I have been handling your PERUNA ever since its introduction. All who have used it speak highly of its curative properties. I consider it a reliable remedy."

Mr. George Fisher, Portsmouth, O., writes: "I am handling your PERUNA, and having a good trade on it. It gives splendid satisfaction."

—IT is now conceded on all sides that there is not and never has been a remedy of such remarkable efficacy as Curtis Carmelite Cordial, in curing cholera, dysentary, cholera morbus, summer complaints, cramps, pains in the bowels, or any intestinal irritation whatever, a single dose brings remarkable relief and a single bottle is guaranteed to cure any case or money refunded. A remarkable pain killer and valuable household remedy.

THE BIG BLAZE AT MILLHEIM.

—Our oldest residents say that the fire which occurred on Friday morning between the hours of three and five o'clock, was the largest conflagration known of in this town. The first alarm was given by F. P. Musser, Turb Kreamer, Henry Miller, Adam Harter and others who returned from a night's fishing expedition about fifteen minutes before 4 o'clock and who on reaching Main street discovered the store of D. S. Kauffman & Co. to be on fire. The flames commenced their disastrous work in the grocery department, next to D. W. Zeigler's tenant house, the latter having also already caught fire. Henry Miller at once burst open his front door and barely had time to rescue his wife and family, who were sound asleep in bed.

By this time Main street and the immediate neighborhood were all aroused and ready to fight the fire fiend. At 4 o'clock sharp, just as F. P. Musser and Turb Kreamer attempted to throw water against the door of the grocery, a keg full of powder standing inside ignited and caused a terrific explosion, which shook nearly every house in town and knocked both Musser and Kreamer out into the middle of the street Some sharp object struck Musser a severe blow on the forehead above his left eye, and caused a painful and troublesome wound. The force of the explosion blew out the whole back wall of the storebuilding and gave the fire a fresh and sweeping start. The shocking report which resembled the horrible rumbling of an earthquake or a heavy thunderclap in an instant brought nearly every person residing in the remote parts of town to their feet and in less than five minutes the whole male population of Millheim was on hand and work commenced in earnest. To save either the store-building or Zeigler's house had become an impossibility and the crowd of willing and determined fire fighters directed their attention next to the adjoining buildings on each side. Alexander's fine dwelling house, occupied by Jerome Spigelmyer, on the one side, and S. D. Musser's residence on the other side stood in imminent danger of being consumed by the raging elements. Several men climbed upon the roof of Alexander's house and began to operate with buckets and axes. The cornice on the western side of the building had caught fire and made rapid headway, towards the east. Inside the people rendered all possible assistance in removing Mr. Spigelmyer's personal effects, which were all sayed with the exception of a few minor articles. The fire by this time had reached its highest stage and the heat became unbearable as all the inflamable and explosive articles in Kauffman's store house throwed up volumes of smoke and flames. The men on Alexander's roof had to vacate their posts and leave the building to its fate. Zeigler's house, Alexander's store house, dwelling house and stable all were fiercely burning and S. D. Musser's residence seemed to join the fiery ordeal, its eastern gable end being greedily licked by the destroying flames For a time it seemed as if it were impossible to save that building but by the truly heroic work of the owner assisted by a crew of men it escaped entire destruction. Nearly two hundred men from town and surrounding vicinity were stationed on the opposite buildings and on the hardware corner, working with an iron will and nerve to prevent the fire from spreading any further. Wet carpets and blankets were hung over the cornices, bucket on bucket of water was thrown against the walls, every available sprinkling hose was pressed into service and axes and hatchets were busy cutting away small inflamable buildings and objects. At last, after almost two hour's hard and determined work, and after the four buildings in the very heart and business portion of town were entirely consumed, it became a surety that we had won the victory and averted the seeming calamity of having the whole town or at least all of Main street swept away by the fire. Our readers who did not witness the fire will perhaps be able to form an idea of the fearful heat the neighboring properties had to contend with by the fact that the paint on Musser's hotel, on Kauffman's new store house, Gutelius' residence and on Frain's hotel was drawn into blisters and many of the windows cracked, while the cornices and weatherboarding are black and the trees in front scorched and killed. It was truly miraculous that any of the neighboring buildings were saved and we can only accredit it to a kind Providence, which gave us a calm and still morning, and to the almost superhuman efforts of our plucky and faithful men.

The total loss is estimated at about $15,000 and falls on the different parties as follows: D, S. Kauffman & Co. goods $10.800—insured $6.500; Alexander's real estate, $4000—insured $3.200; Zeigler's tenant house, $300—no insurance; damages at S. D. Musser's house, $200,—insured; damages at Musser's hotel, Kauffman's new store house and Gutelius' house about $200—all insured. Nearly all of Henry Miller's furniture and clothing was consumed, a loss of about $300. Immediately after the fire a charity fund was raised by a few of our citizens for the relief of Mr. Miller's family, amounting to something over $70.

The origin of the fire is not known and will likely remain a mystery, the wild speculations of some people notwithstanding.

—Evaporated Apples, 4 pound for 25 cents at Spigelmyer's.

—4 pounds of Raisins for 25 cents at Spigelmyer's.

—Mauck and son, painters from Millheim are doing some fine painting in the valley. They have the contract for painting Mr. Jas. Haye's house.—Lock Haven Democrat.

—Clipped from "Canada Presbyterian," under signature of C. Blackett Robinson, Propr: 'I was cured of oft-recurring bilious headaches by Burdock Blood Bitters.

—Under the head of "legal advertisements" in this week's paper will be found the Auditor's Notice of J. C. Meyer, of Bellefonte, in the estate of Adam Fisher, deceased.

—The empty space between the hardware corner and S. D. Musser's residence on Main street is an odd sight to those who only a few days ago seen the three buildings stand there.

—Sheriff May, from Clinton county was in town on Friday, having had some official business here. Mr. May called on us and we found him a right fine-looking and pleasant sheriff.

—The large mountain fires on the neighboring mountains east and west of Millheim filled the sky with a red haze and rendered the air heavy with smoke in the beginning of the week.

—Our band was out last Saturday evening and gave an open air concert. The streets and pavements were crowded with people, many of them having come from the country to see the ruins of the late fire.

—H. K. Luse is canvassing town with a garden and lawn sprinkler which seems to be quite popular, many of our property holders having purchased one. C. F. Deininger & H. K. Luse have the agency.

—On Wednesday of last week a fire broke out on Mr. Warntz's premises, along the mountain, north of Aaronsburg, which destroyed his stable and wash house before it could be put out. His loss is estimated at $200.

—Rosa Pearl Evans, the daughter of Rev. A. E. Evans, who in former years filled the pulpits of the U. B. church on this charge, died at the residence of of her mother, Mrs. Amanda Evans, at Rebersburg, last Saturday.

—You will find McDonald's Improved Liver Pills so satisfactory as a corrector of a torpid liver, as a regulator of the bowels, as an eradicator of billiousness, that you will regret not having tried them sooner. Money refunded to dissatisfied purchasers. Sold by J. Eisenhuth, Millheim, Pa.

—Mrs. J. Spigelmyer departed for Union county on Saturday afternoon on a visit to friends and relatives. The lady had quite a fright at the late fire and the trip we hope will restore her nerves to a tranquil and quiet condition.

—We have received several copies of The Ledger, published weekly at Philipsburg, this county, and find it a right newsy and clean paper. H. C. Williams and J.D. Douglass are the editors and have started with the second year of its publication.

LOOK HERE.—I cure Piles. I have a positive remedy for piles. By its use many cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. It cures as if by magic. Money refunded to dissatisfied patients. Address,

NOTICE.—Having been appointed agent by the Middletown Tube & Iron Company of Middletown, Pa., for the sale of their Iron Pipes, &c, all persons needing anything in this line will save money by calling on me.
W. H. BARTHOLOMEW,
20-3m Spring Mills, Pa.

THANKS.—Henry Miller and family gratefully acknowledge the receipt of $70.00 which the good and charitable citizens of Millheim donated to them after the fire. May "He who is a very present help in trouble" richly reward them for their timely aid, is the heartfelt wish of the family.

NOTICE.—Having been appointed agent by the Buck Thorn Fence Co., for the sale of the celebrated Buck Thorn Steel Barbed Fencing, I invite persons wanting this handsome, lasting and cheap article to call on me.
J. B. FISHER,
10-3m. Penn Hall, Pa.

—J. W. Stover and wife of this place accompanied by his brother George B., of Haines township, left for Lincoln Centre, Lincoln Co., Kansas, on Monday afternoon by way of Bellefonte, and expect to spend several months on an investigating tour through the wide West. We wish them a pleasant journey.

ANOTHER FIRE.—Shortly before dinner on Monday a fire broke out on the roof of Lawson Levan's house, at the mountain north of town. The neighbors succeeded in extinguishing the flames before they gained much headway. Only the roof was damaged, a hole about seven feet square having burned out.

—Increased buoyancy of spirits, perfect assimilation of food, improved appetite, gain in flesh, sound refreshing sleep, heightened color in the cheeks and lips, added brilliancy to the eyes, follow the use of McDonald's Great Blood Purifier or Sarsaparillian Alterative. A bottle or two used in the family would obviate the entire train of spring maladies. Dissatisfied purchasers can have their money refunded.

—500 pair Ladies' Hose, only 5 cents at Spigelmyer's.

—Mr. Geo. Buck, the photographer, wishes to give notice to parties desiring to have views taken of Buildings, etc., that he will attend to this work every Tuesday, provided the weather is fair.

NEW GOODS.—Mrs. E. J. Brumgard just received a new lot of Millinery Goods, which comprises the latest and most beautiful styles of Headwear ever brought to town. Her prices are moderate and the ladies are kindly requested to give her a call. tf

CARD.—The undersigned would take occasion to return sincere thanks to his friends and the public in general for their timely assistance in removing his furniture and household goods at the late fire and will always remember the kindness manifested by the people in that time of distress.
J. SPIGELMYER.

—Mr. Kauffman, Sr., went to the cities on Saturday to buy a new stock of goods, which are being placed on the shelves of the new room as soon as they arrive. On account of the fire in which all their store goods were consumed the Messrs. D. S. Kauffman & Co, and their clerks had a few days vacation.

—Notwithstanding much has been said about the importance of a blood purifying medicine, it may be possible that the matter has never seriously claimed your attention. Think of it now! If, by the use of a few bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla you avoid the evils of scrofula, and transmit a healthy constitution to your offspring, thank us for the suggestion.

—The congregational meeting held in the Lutheran chapel last Saturday evening for the purpose of discussing the establishment of the projected new cemetery was well attended and the resolutions to that effect were unaminusly adopted. Further steps will at once be taken to complete the necessary preliminary work. The project seemed to meet with the approval of all present.

—The Gleason & Baily Manufacturing Co. have notified the town council that the Millheim Hook & Ladder Truck was shipped on Tuesday. It is expected to arrive at Coburn station either to-day or to-morrow, when the band and a committee of the H. & L. Company will convey it from the station to town. The contractors for the Truck House are hard at work to finish the building this week.

—Dr. C. Sumner Musser, of Aaronsburg, will leave next Monday for Philadelphia and New York, from where he expects to embark on the 30th of May for a trip to Europe. He intends to spend about five or six months on the continent, will visit England, Germany, Switzerland, France, Italy, Austria and will complete his medical studies in the Berlin and Vienna hospitals. We wish the doctor a safe voyage and a pleasant tour in every respect.

—By request of the members of the Millheim Cornet Band it was announced in the Sunday schools last Sunday to send delegates to the public meeting to be held in the town hall next Saturday evening for the purpose of effecting complete arrangements for a proper celebration of Memorial Day. Our people seem to manifest much interest in the matter and we have no doubt that the ceremonies will be made impressive and creditable. The good ladies of town would do well to consider themselves in the meantime a special committee on flowers and see to it that we may have a fair supply.

The full programme of the day's exercises will be published in next week's JOURNAL.

FIRE IN SUGAR VALLEY.—Friday morning the comfortable home of Maj. Wm. Purman, in Sugar Valley, was wiped out of existence by fire. The family had been absent in Washington city spending the winter, and just returned this week. Before going into the house it underwent the "house cleaning" process and to aid in drying up the floors and woodwork generally, a fire was built in one of the stoves. While the family was absent, taking dinner at the residence of Mrs. Purman's father, the house caught fire and was totally destroyed. The supposition is that it caught in the flue. The building was a large frame one and a very good one. It belongs to the Lock Haven Building and Loan Association. The loss is not exactly known, and the insurance is $1,000.

Fortunately for Mr. Purman, none of his household goods were in the building at the time.—Clinton Democrat.

A SUGAR VALLEY CITIZEN "TAKEN IN."—A few days ago a man whose name is not known went to Mr. H. M. Swenk, of Sugar Valley, and asked permission to erect a corn mill on his property in the valley. Mr. Swenk was disposed to grant the privilege and the understanding between him and the stranger was satisfactory and clear. Before leaving to get the machinery (as the stranger represented) he asked Mr. Swenk to write his name on a postal card in order that he might have his name should he have occasion to write to him. A day or two ago another stranger appeared with a note written on a postal card signed by Mr. Swenk. It was the postal Mr. Swenk had signed. The note had been written above his name. Mr. Swenk was informed it had been given in payment for corn mill machinery and he was—we are told—frightened into its payment. Of course he has seen nothing of the machinery and probably will not.

A similar trick was played on Mr. Wagner of the same valley not long ago, the only difference being that he forced the fellows to deliver the machinery, which, however, proved to be comparatively worthless when it came.—Clinton Democrat.

Neighboring News.

AARONSBURG.

John Forster, of the Lewisburg University has been sojourning with us a few days. Always glad to see him.

Master Coburn Rogers has been enrolled as a student in Miss Mary Bollinger's school.

A party consisting of Adam Martin, William Winkelblech, D. K., W. F. and A. S. Musser, made a trip to Oak Hall on Ascension Day. After doing justice to the inner man at the table of the hospitable B. Frank Homan they boarded the east bound train for Coburn. They report an excellent time.

"Bock Street" was in an uproar, one day last week, over the mysterious misfortune that befell Mr. Keener's dog. Al. Stover, the wrongfully accused, experienced a red hot time in his efforts to exculpate himself.

Wm. Shafer, of Spring Mills is about ready to plaster Charley Stover's new house.

Dr. P. T. Musser is the happiest man in our town. The grandson's name will likely be Philip Musser Irey.

The reception at the Lutheran parsonage on last Wednesday evening was the grand event of the season. The donation was a large one and is substantial proof of the generosity of the charge with which Rev. Dietzler has connected himself.

In the vicinity of Wolfe's school house, a boardwalk connects the residences of two of the leading families. Glad to hear of the improvement.

Geo. Bollinger, it is whispered, has some notion of studying for the ministry. "Rev. Geo. Bollinger" would really be high sounding. HAWKEYE.

SMITH TOWN.

Last Friday morning nearly all our folks rushed to Millheim to help extinguish the big fire which broke out in Kauffman's store.

Henry Keen bought an excellent horse at Centre Hall the other day for $160.

The orchards in this neighborhood are in full bloom and look very promising.

Milton Keen planted a large watermelon patch. Hope he may reap a large crop.

This is the driest cornplanting season we have had for a number of years.

Mrs. H. E. Duck's parents paid her a pleasant visit on Monday.

Alleman Keen is the boss corn plater in this section. He plants between 12 and 14 acres a day. JUMBO.

COBURN.

Whitmer & Lincoln took in on Tuesday fourteen hundred bushels of wheat and Samuel Gettig about the same amount. The total amount of wheat brought to Coburn last week was eight thousand bushels.

Miss Ellen Campbell has left for the coal regions where she expects to make her future home.

Our landlord, Joseph Kleckner, was seen behind the plow this week.

Mrs. James Witmyer is on a fair way to recovery from her late sickness.

Some parties at Coburn are putting up new buildings and others are taking theirs down.

Jacob Witmyer and Thomas Eisenhuth are kept busy hauling lumber and stone. Z.

REBERSBURG.

Mr. Moyer, our new landlord, is doing quite a business ever since he occupied the hotel. Hope it may still continue to increase.

Croquet seems all the rage, parties continue to play until the approach of midnight.

Jno. A. Miller, who was staying at Centre Hall for several weeks, has returned and will again resume his duty as post master.

Clark Gramley lost a valuable horse one day last week.

Mr. & Mrs. Reber who were visiting at Mr. Moyer's left for their home at Plymouth, Luzerne Co. Pa.

Last Saturday evening fire broke out in the tannery but was fortunately extinguished before it made much progress. The excitement, however, was indescribable. Boz.

WOODWARD.

Jas. Ettlinger left last week for the West where he expects to remain.

J. B. Ard, of Pine Grove Mills is at present sojourning in the village visiting his brother Dr. Ard, and indulging in the past-time, trout fishing.

There is a large fire on the mountain close to the village endangering the stables located south of the town which intensifies the excitement.

Jas. Ketner is working for Samuel Williams at the saw mill in this place. ALEXIS.

Spring Mills.

Mrs. McLaughlin of Boston, delivered an excellent lecture on temperance to a crowded house on last Sunday evening. She has a fine delivery and she seems to have her heart in the work of temperance.

Supt. D. M. Wolf has returned from a trip to the east. *

DIED.

On the 16th inst., at Rebersburg, Pa., Rosa Pearl, daughter of Rev. A. E. Evans and Amanda Evans, aged 6 years, 7 months and 4 days.

Dearest Rosa, thou hast left us,
Here thy loss we deeply feel;
But 'tis God hath bereft us,
He can all our sorrow heal. C.W.R.

PYÆMIA

Is the most virulent form of blood-poisoning. Less speedily fatal, but not less certainly so, is the vitiation of the blood of which the first symptoms are Pimples, Sties, Boils, and Cutaneous Eruptions. When the taint of Scrofula gives warning of its presence by such indications, no time should be lost in using AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, the only perfect and reliable medicine for the purification of the blood.

SCROFULA

Is a foul corruption in the blood that rots out all the machinery of life. Nothing will eradicate it from the system and prevent its transmission to offspring but AYER'S SARSAPARILLA. This preparation is also the only one that will cleanse the blood of Mercurial poison and the taint of Contagious Diseases. Impoverished blood is productive of

ANÆMIA,

A wretched condition indicated by Pallid Skin, Flaccid Muscles, Shattered Nerves, and Melancholy. Its first symptoms are Weakness, Languor, Loss of Nerve Force, and Mental Dejection. Its course, unchecked, leads inevitably to insanity or death. Women frequently suffer from it. The only medicine that, while purifying the blood, enriches it with new vitality, and invigorates the whole system, is Counterfeiting a Decreasing Crime.

"Not so much counterfeiting is going on now as there was five or six years ago," remarked United States Marshal Monroe to a Grand Rapids (Mich) Leader reporter. "The manufacturers and shovers of the queer have come to realize that if the nefarious trade is carried on any length of time, detection is almost certain. We have captured, convinced and sentenced between thirty and forty counterfeiters during the past four years, and all the old gangs have been broken up. The new generation of counterfeiters are mostly country boys who, in their simplicity, believe that they can handle the bogus coin without fear of detection or punishment. They are almost invariably captured before they have realized from their investment. The old convicts, who make the coin in some secret place after serving their time in prisons for past crimes, are either captured or rope in other innocents, who, in turn, trade in the stuff and get caught. The maker of the coin is sooner or later captured as well as the boys who handle it. But the people are rapidly learning they cannot counterfeit the coin of the realm with impunity, and with a few more years of vigorous enforcement of the laws, violation of the the laws in this respect will be almost unknown in this section of the country.'

She Knew the Styles.

It was a very particular man that sat down to the dinner table at the Stafford house recently, and he exemplified it when he gave his order.

'You may give me, Mary,' he said to one of the table fairies, 'you may give me a delicate piece of—ah—rare roast beef well favored, and—ah—free from any extraneous matter in the way of—ah—stringy substance, a narrow piece of fat on the edge, and—ah—a little—a very little—gray—just sufficient to—ah—moisten it properly. And Mary—'

Mary, who had been listening attentively, here broke in:

'I understand you, sir. You simply want your meat bias, with Charlotte Russe flouncing, shirred up the back with a Pompadour rink roll on the outer edge. Do you want buttons on it?'

The particular guest couldn't reply.

DOWNS' ELIXIR.

N. H. DOWNS'

Vegetable Balsamic

ELIXIR

For the cure of

Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Croup, Asthma, Pleurisy, Hoarseness, Influenza, Spitting Blood, Bronchitis, and all diseases of the Throat, Chest, and Lungs. In all cases where this Elixir is used its efficacy is at once manifested, convincing the most incredulous that is not incurable, if properly attended to—At its commencement it is but a slight irritation of the membrane which covers the Lungs; then an inflamation, when the cough is rather dry, local fever, and the pulse more frequent, the cheeks flushed and chills more common. This Elixir in curing the above complaints, operates so as to remove all morbid irritations and inflamation from the lungs to the surface, and finally expel them from the system. It facilitates expectoration.

It heals the ulcerated surfaces and relieves the cough and makes the breathing easy. It supports the strength and at the same time reduces the fever. It is free from strong opiate and astringent articles, which are of so drying a nature as to be in great danger of destroying the patient; whereas this medicine never dries or stops the cough, but, by removing the CAUSE, consequently, when the cough is cured the patient is well. Send address for pamphlet giving full directions, free.

Price 35 cts., 50 cts., and $1.00 per bottle.

SOLD EVERYWHERE.

DR. JOHN BULL'S

Smith's Tonic Syrup

FEVER and ACUE

Or CHILLS and FEVER,

AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient.

BULL'S SARSAPARILLA is the old and reliable remedy for impurities of the blood and Scrofulous affections—the King of Blood Purifiers.

DR. JOHN BULL'S VEGETABLE WORM DESTROYER is prepared in the form of candy drops, attractive to the sight and pleasant to the taste.
